

JOIN THE DOW LIVE EARTH WALK FOR WATER

SUNDAY, APRIL 18, 2010

Did you know ... Most women and children must walk 6 km every day to access water. Today, hundreds of thousands of people in 100 countries around the globe will be walking or running for water.

DATE: Sunday, April 18

TIME: Anytime from Noon-5pm

PLACE: The Dow Wetlands Preserve, Pittsburg-Antioch Highway, Antioch

For details and directions, visit <http://liveearth.org/en/run>

Bring the family, a picnic and join your community in a 6km walk to raise awareness of the need for clean water. Walks are self-guided or can be led by a docent. Learn from local organizations about water issues we are facing right here in the Bay Area.

Free parking. Free entrance. Free snacks & water. Even free t-shirts for the first 500 people. Live music!

Every DROP Counts. And every STEP Counts. Join this global effort and be part of the solution.
